

2024-2025 ANNUAL IMPACT REPORT

WITH OUR MUSIC,
KIDS CAN!

KidLinks provides healing, hope, and happiness through the power of music.

Leading The Way

STUART SIDES, PRESIDENT & CHAIR OF THE BOARD

As KidLinks celebrates its 42nd anniversary, I am honored to reflect on a year defined by growth, resilience, and impact. The dedication of our board, staff, volunteers, Board-Certified Music Therapists, Therapeutic Music Entertainers, partners, and supporters continues to inspire us and drive our mission forward.

2025 has been a year of opportunity and achievement.

From record-breaking attendance at Hugapalooza and the 25th Energy Golf Classic to welcoming new board members and launching innovative therapeutic music initiatives, our team's commitment shines through every milestone. Our leadership has worked tirelessly to expand programming, deepen community partnerships, and support our staff, volunteers, donors, and sponsors.

Financial stewardship remains a top priority.

In response to year-end budget challenges, our board revised and balanced the 2025 budget to ensure KidLinks' continued sustainability. With the generosity of sponsors and donors—through major pledges, new grants, and the launch of KidLinks' Foundation for the Future, our first endowment fund—we've made significant strides toward long-term security. These efforts strengthen existing programs and open new opportunities for 2026 and beyond.

Our programmatic impact continues to grow.

In the first half of 2025, KidLinks reached over 5,600 children, adults, and staff through Therapeutic Music Entertainment and provided more than 1,200 hours of Board-Certified Music Therapy to 337 children. Our ongoing TME Research Project, launched in 2024, is yielding valuable insights into the benefits of our services. We also completed 13 new and refreshed KidLinks songs, further enriching our library.

Looking ahead, our mission is clear.

We're proud to welcome new board members Leslie Tipping (Tipping Mineral Management) and Ted Zarrabi (Toyota Financial Services), and to welcome back Jim Markus (Haynes and Boone). Their diverse backgrounds, skills, and passion for service will make a significant impact and will help guide our next chapter.

KidLinks remains committed to linking children to healing, hope, and happiness through music and media. We will continue to innovate, expand our reach, and steward our resources with care. None of this is possible without YOU—our supporters, partners, and friends. Your belief in our mission fuels our progress and ensures our legacy endures.

Join us in shaping the future of KidLinks—together!

With gratitude,

Stuart

Leading The Way

LEIGH TREVIÑO, INTERIM EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear KidLinks Community,

What an extraordinary year it has been! With deep gratitude and humility, we reflect on the milestones of 2024 and the first half of 2025. Together, we strengthened the connection between our partners and the children and families we serve, while also fostering meaningful relationships within our broader community and support network.

This season in KidLinks' history has been especially significant, as our direct services and impact have grown to their largest size ever, allowing us to reach more children and families across seven counties in North Texas. At the heart of all we do remains our commitment to delivering high-quality, accessible Therapeutic Music Entertainment and Board-Certified Music Therapy.

All of our achievements are made possible by the generosity of our individual donors, corporate partners, and grant funders, whose steadfast belief in our mission ensures that we can continue to change lives through the healing power of music.

We extend our deepest thanks to our Board of Directors, administrative staff, Therapeutic Music Entertainers, Board-Certified Music Therapists, review team, partners and dedicated volunteers. Each of you plays a vital role in shaping the future of KidLinks, and we look forward to continuing this journey—bringing hope, healing, and joy through music to thousands of children across North Texas and beyond. Thank you for your continued support and love.

With heartfelt gratitude,

Leigh

Program & Highlights

KIDLINKS PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Through the dedicated efforts of KidLinks' staff, Therapeutic Music Entertainers, Board-Certified Music Therapists, volunteers, partner organizations, and supporters, the organization has strengthened our capacity to operate with greater collaboration, creativity, and intentionality in advancing our mission of providing therapeutic music services, resources and access to families most in need. This report details the significant achievements in our Therapeutic Music Entertainment® (TME) and Board-Certified Music Therapy (MT) programs over the past eighteen months.

Our commitment to fostering healing, hope, and happiness for children and families remains steadfast, as evidenced by the expansion of service locations across North Texas, the development of new strategic partnerships, and the enhancement of KidLinks.org as a platform for delivering high-quality therapeutic music resources.

MISSION MOMENT

"We have noticed so many positive changes in our little one from the moment she began music therapy. Her curiosity shines in every visit and as a parent those moments are so special to hear her joy. When our daughter was diagnosed with delays, we were told she may never walk or talk but to hear her sing, to watch her coordinate her hands, to play a drum, to see her recognize her abilities and learn along with such a dedicated therapist is so incredibly beautiful. We will always share our support for KidLinks because we have been able to witness the remarkable growth that may have never been, had we never had the opportunity. Thank you to everyone who makes this opportunity possible."

– Parent of MT Client, Fort Worth

Program & Highlights

Research & Innovation

In early 2024, KidLinks was awarded funding from the Garrison Family Foundation to initiate the Therapeutic Music Entertainment® (TME) Research Project: Implementing Therapeutic Music Experiences in Pediatric Outpatient Care – Process and Outcome Evaluation.

Developed and led by Dr. Daniel Tague, Chair of Music Therapy at Southern Methodist University, this study is designed to evaluate the impact and effectiveness of TME in meeting the psychosocial needs of children in hospital and specialized care environments.

In partnership with Scottish Rite for Children, the study launched in Fall 2024 with surveys distributed to patients, caregivers, healthcare professionals, and musicians. These surveys are intended to capture experiences, identify needs, and measure outcomes, providing valuable insights to strengthen KidLinks' therapeutic music programming. Beyond data collection, the process also encourages participants to reflect on their experiences and build positive emotional associations with therapeutic music.

Looking ahead, data collection will continue through Fall 2025, with Chase's Place joining the study as an additional partner site. This expansion reflects KidLinks' ongoing commitment to advancing research and ensuring that therapeutic music services remain responsive, impactful, and evidence-based.

BOARD-CERTIFIED MUSIC THERAPY (MT)

Individualized Care Through Music

KidLinks' Board-Certified Music Therapists work closely with each child to understand their unique strengths and needs, creating individualized treatment plans that use music to support growth in cognition, communication, physical development, social interaction, emotional regulation, and behavioral skills. Families are offered up to 16 weeks of free one-on-one sessions, with additional subsidized services available based on income and therapist recommendations. The program is open to children and youth ages 2–18.

Today, KidLinks' dedicated team of seven Board-Certified Music Therapists serves between 80–100 children each week through both one-on-one and group sessions.

Services are delivered at a variety of locations to increase accessibility. They include:

- Home practices in Arlington, Fort Worth, and Denton
- Disciple City Church in Oak Cliff
- Lifeologie in Midlothian
- J.W. Brown Music Therapist-in-Residence Program in Dallas at Southern Methodist University
- Partner sites at Heart House, Chase's Place, and Parkland Burn Center

By offering services in multiple settings, KidLinks is committed to ensuring equitable access to high-quality, affordable music therapy across North Texas, helping remove financial and geographic barriers so more children and families can benefit from the healing power of music.

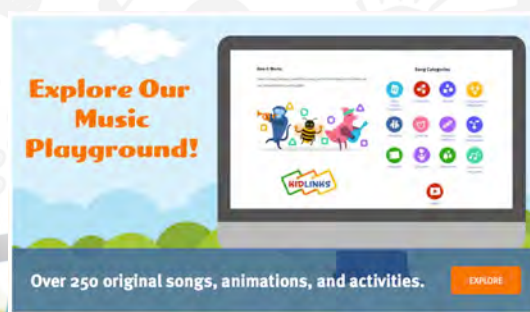

Southwestern Region of the American Music Therapy Association (SWAMTA) Conference

KidLinks was honored to be a part of the Southwestern Region of the American Music Therapy Association (SWAMTA) 2025 Conference, where our organization's presence was highlighted on swag bags, lanyards, and the digital program reaching nearly 300 attendees. In addition to hosting an exhibitor booth and building meaningful connections with music therapy professionals, educators, and students, KidLinks proudly celebrated a major milestone as our own Music Therapist, Debbie Dacus, MA, MT-BC, delivered the conference's keynote address. KidLinks has been previously honored by SWAMTA with their "Friend of Music Therapy" Award.

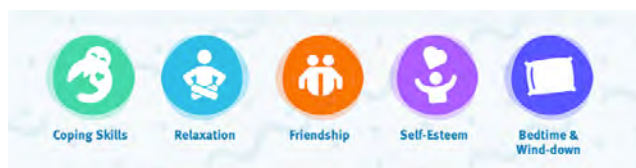

KIDLINKS.ORG

KidLinks.org serves as a comprehensive hub for Therapeutic Music Entertainment® (TME) and Music Therapy (MT) resources. The site is fully accessible, mobile-friendly, and designed to support families, child life specialists, music therapists, and early childhood professionals. Whether accessed from a hospital, clinic, or home, users can explore more than 250 free songs, animations, instrumental tracks, and videos—all available for streaming free of charge anytime, day or night.

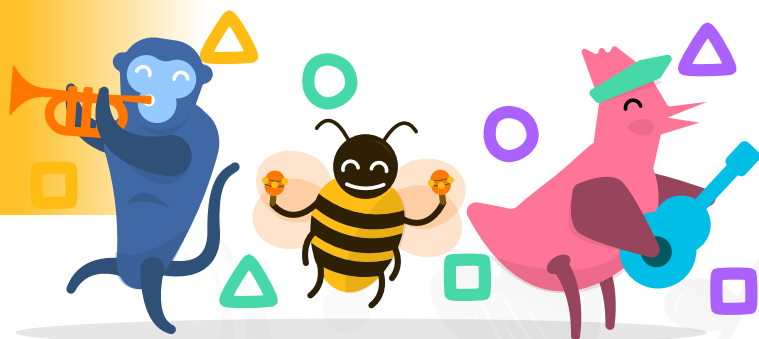

SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL SKILLS (S-ES) RESOURCE

The Social-Emotional Skills (S-ES) Resource is a curated digital platform that combines music, animations, and downloadable guidebooks to support social-emotional learning. This innovative musical toolkit is made available to schools, childcare centers, community programs, and organizations serving children with unique challenges, helping to strengthen emotional growth and resilience through the power of music.

MISSION MOMENT

"Chaim, who has low muscle tone and a cortical delay, is encouraged to shake the maracas in his hands and the bells on his ankles. We're working on increasing his gross motor movement and decreasing his response time. He often begins and ends the session standing at the piano, which he plays with one hand rocking back and forth on the keys. This creates a sort of musical pattern I can play beside him to encourage more personal interactions. When he likes a music strategy, he continues playing for a long time but if he doesn't, he stops immediately and throws down the instruments. It's not bad behavior but his only way of letting me know. I would say for Chaim, 'I am encouraged by music I like and have my way of communicating my preferences!'"

KidLinks music gives kids a healthy, safe, and positive way to connect with their emotions. Through our TME and MT direct services, KidLinks.org online resources, and S-ES platform—generously supported by donors and grantors—KidLinks is positively impacting the lives of specially-challenged kids every day!

MISSION MOMENT

Before I walked into the hospital room, a pastor was sharing Bible verses with the patient and the patient's mother. I entered and began playing a song for the young and joyful child. As I finished the song, "If I Could," I noticed the mother was in tears. She began thanking me for such a beautiful song and that it was what they really needed to hear at that moment. The pastor remarked, "Wow, this is exactly what we were talking about a minute ago."
